Within this document:

Safeguarding is defined in the Children Act 2004 as protecting from maltreatment; preventing impairment of health and development; ensuring that children grow up with the provision of safe and effective care; and work in a way that gives the best life chances and transition to adulthood. Our safeguarding practice applies to every student and vulnerable adult.

Child Protection is an aspect of safeguarding but is focused on how we respond to children who have been significantly harmed or are at risk of significant harm.

Significant harm - is defined as a situation where a child is suffering, or is likely to suffer, a degree of physical, sexual and/or emotional harm (through abuse or neglect) which is so harmful that there needs to be compulsory intervention by child protection agencies into the life of the child and their family.

Abuse could mean neglect, physical, emotional or sexual abuse or any combination of these. Children can be abused either by direct acts and/or failure to provide proper care. Explanations of different types of abuse are given in the Definitions section of this document below.

Children are legally defined as young people under 18 years of age for the purpose of referrals to Children's Services. However, as a Trust/College, we will apply the moral guidelines to all our students regardless of race, ethnicity, gender, disability, sexual orientation or age - this includes vulnerable adults. The Policy will also extend to visiting children and students from other establishments. When our staff are visiting other educational establishments they will act in the spirit of this policy, but in accordance with the policies of those establishments.

For the purposes of this Policy, the words child/children will be replaced by "Student/Students" where practical.

Vulnerable Adult refers to a person 'who is or may be in need of community care services by reason of mental or other disability, age or illness; and who is or may be unable to take care of him or herself, or unable to protect him or herself against significant harm or exploitation' (Department of Health, 2000). Vulnerability can apply to a wide range of disabilities and situations including those adults at risk owing to their caring role or family responsibilities. Vulnerability may be temporary or permanent. Individuals can become vulnerable when no previous conditions existed, for example if they become ill.

Parent refers to persons of parental responsibility, birth parents and other adults in a parenting role for example adoptive parents, guardians, step parents and foster carers.

Staff applies to all those working for or on behalf of QMC or NHEA, full time or part time, in either a paid or voluntary capacity. This also includes parent volunteers and Trustees/Governors

Our definitions of harm and abuse are wide ranging and include Female Genital Mutilation and Forced Marriage (see Definition & Types of Abuse below). This Policy also covers managing allegations against other students (child on child abuse), in line with recent guidance. Victims of child on child abuse will be supported as all other victims of abuse.

We understand that extremism may also lead to significant harm and abuse and in line with our PREVENT duty believe that there is an important role for us in helping prevent people being drawn into terrorism.

In making commitments to safeguarding, we recognise that our practices are also bound by a broad framework of legislation, and statutory or national guidance including:

- a) Employment Protection Act (1975) and Consolidation Act (1978)
- b) UN convention on rights of the child (1989)

- c) Protection from Harassment Act (1997)

The Children Act 1989 states that the child's welfare is paramount and safeguarding and promoting it is our priority.

The Children Act 2004 sets out a duty for the Local Authorities to work closely with those providing services to children and young people.

The Counter-Terrorism and Security Act 2015 contains a duty on specified authorities to have due regard to the need to prevent people from being drawn into terrorism.

This Policy has been developed in accordance with the principles established by these Acts, by the Education Act 2002 and in line with the Government publications listed above. It has also been developed in line with advice from our local Safeguarding Children Partnership (HSCP).

Policy Statement

Queen Mary's College and the NHEA Trust fully recognise our moral and statutory responsibility to safeguard and promote the welfare of all students. We make every effort to provide a safe and welcoming environment underpinned by a culture of openness where both students and adults feel secure, able to talk, and believe that they are being listened to.

We maintain an attitude of "it could happen here" where safeguarding is concerned.

QMC and the NHEA Trust will ensure that every adult who works with or for us, is aware of the contents of this policy and understands what the reporting procedures are in cases where a student (or their parent(s) / carer(s)) makes a disclosure of abuse or an allegation. Any such disclosures or allegations will always be taken very seriously to ensure that any students involved, in whatever role, are protected and supported.

Aims

- To provide staff with the framework to promote and safeguard the wellbeing of students and in so doing ensure they meet their statutory responsibilities. Specific guidance is available to staff within the procedure documents.
- To inform parents and guardians how we will safeguard their children whilst they are in our care and to inform students how we will safeguard them.
- To ensure consistent good practice across the College.
- To demonstrate our commitment to protecting all children, including those served by out of hours hirers.

Principles and Values

- Students have a right to feel secure and cannot learn effectively unless they do so.
- All children, regardless of age, gender, race, ability, sexuality, religion, culture or language have a right to be protected from harm.
- All staff have a key role in prevention of harm and an equal responsibility to act on any suspicion or disclosure that may indicate a student is at risk of harm in accordance with the guidance. All adults working for QMC/The Trust should maintain professional curiosity if they are concerned about a student.
- We acknowledge that working in partnership with other agencies protects students and reduces risk and so we will engage in partnership working throughout the child protection process to safeguard students.
- Whilst the College will work openly with parents as far as possible, the College reserves the right to contact Children's Services or the police without notifying parents if this is in the student's best interests.

We believe that all children have a right to attend College and learn in a safe environment. Students should be free from harm by adults in college and by other students.

Safeguarding and promoting the welfare of our students is everyone's responsibility. Everyone who comes into contact with students and their families has a role to play. In order to fulfil this responsibility effectively, all staff should make sure their approach is child-centred. This means that they should consider, at all times, what is in the best interests of the student.

All students in our college can talk to any member of staff about situations, or to share concerns, which are causing them worries. The staff will listen to the student, take their worries seriously and share the information with the safeguarding team. Staff are aware that students with disabilities, special needs, certain medical conditions or with language deficit/English as a second language may have more difficulty in communicating concerns or feelings.

In addition, we provide students with information about who they can talk to outside of college, both within the community and with local or national organisations that can provide support or help.

We recognise that children are capable of abusing their peers and this will be dealt with as per procedures below and in line with KCSiE (2023).

This policy is underpinned by the principle that there is a zero-tolerance approach to sexual violence and sexual harassment. We are clear that sexual violence and sexual harassment is not acceptable, will never be tolerated and is not an inevitable part of growing up.

Safeguarding measures are put in place to minimise harm to students. There may be occasions where gaps or deficiencies in our policies and processes will be highlighted. In these situations, a review will be carried out in order to identify learning and inform the policy, practice and culture of the college.

The DSL, SLT, and the Governors/Trustees review this policy at least annually in line with DfE, HSCP, HCC and any other relevant guidance. Prior to any changes being made, we adopt the Hampshire model policies, and all staff read KCSiE every year in September when updated. We update on any important changes at the start of the year. The policy and procedures will be published on the College website and the Staff Hub.

Queen Mary's College will:

1. Establish a safe environment within which students can learn and develop.
2. Support students who have been, or are, at risk of significant harm.
3. Ensure we practice safe recruitment in checking the suitability of staff and volunteers who work with students.

4. Carry out regular child protection training, in line with legal requirements.
5. Publish and implement clearly defined procedures for identifying and reporting cases, or suspected cases, of abuse (see attached procedures).
6. Develop and promote effective working relationships with other agencies, especially the Police and Children's Services.
7. Implement our PREVENT Action Plan in line with our PREVENT Risk Assessment. (see separate documents).

We will focus on:

- PREVENTION (positive and safe environment, careful and vigilant teaching, accessible support to students and good adult role models).
- PROTECTION (agreed procedures are followed, staff are trained and supported to respond appropriately and sensitively to child protection/safeguarding concerns).
- SUPPORT (to students, staff and children who may have been abused or have been affected by the abuse of others).

1. Establish a safe environment within which children can learn and develop.

Induction sessions at the start of a student's time at college make the college ethos of respect clear to all. It is the responsibility of the whole college community to create and maintain this ethos, which is in line with British values. This message is reinforced through a variety of means - Induction, tutorial, curriculum, events and student support provision, regularly publicised to all students. The content of the curriculum will be tailored to the specific needs and vulnerabilities of individual students, including students who are victims of abuse, and students with SEND. The Student Guide gives all students advice about where to seek support. Each student will have a 'trusted adult' within college they can turn to (their tutor). We ensure that systems are in place for any student to be able to raise concerns with staff, knowing that they will be listened to, believed, and valued.

We will ensure that appropriate IT filters and monitoring systems are in place, to safeguard students from harmful and inappropriate online material. The DSL will take lead responsibility for ensuring that staff training will include understanding roles and responsibilities in relation to filtering and monitoring. We will provide information and awareness to students about the dangers of technology when used inappropriately through:

- Acceptable use agreements
- Curriculum and tutorial activities involving raising awareness
- Information on the intranet

- Campaigns e.g. Safer Internet Usage

We will also provide education to help prevent students from becoming victims and perpetrators of abusive relationships, by encouraging them to rethink their views of violence, abuse and controlling behaviours, and understand what consent means within their relationships. This will form part of curriculum and tutorial content in respect of Relationship Education.

2. Support students who have been, or are, at risk of significant harm.

The College will support students who are at risk of harm. or who suffer harm, through:

- our tutorial system
- the provision of a professional Counselling Service
- trained Student Personal Adviser (s)
- Mental health 1st aiders
- The Wellbeing (Student Support) Hub

Tutors may refer students to the above services if they are concerned for the welfare of the student. This does not obviate the need for the tutor to report child protection issues to the Designated Safeguarding Lead (DSL) or Deputy DSLs (DDSLs) or for the Counsellors to follow child protection guidelines. Students may also refer themselves to either support service without the involvement of any of their tutors.

The College will also support students, and make them aware of safeguarding and safeguarding support, through:

- Compliance with and support of any Child Protection plans; Child in Need Plans; Team Around the Family plans etc. that may be in place.
- Liaison with, and referral to, other agencies that support the student such as Hampshire Youth Support Service, Children's Services, Child and Adolescent Mental Health Services, YPI (local Counselling service), Catch-22 (Drugs education and support), Education Welfare Service, Educational Psychology Service and The Channel Programme. We are also able to refer to MASH and Early Help Hub.

The College will identify students who are in need of support pre-entry through liaison with the schools, parents/guardians, relevant agencies and the students themselves. These students will be confidentially identified to relevant staff via our internal systems, and staff are invited to talk to a member of the support team for further information. Students identified will be monitored via their tutor and other staff, and monitoring will be confidentially recorded. We will also develop risk assessments and provide targeted work for students identified as being a potential risk to other students.

3. Ensure we practice safe recruitment in checking the suitability of staff and volunteers who work with children. (see separate policy)

'Safe recruitment' means that the College will scrutinise all job applicants; verifying identity and any academic or vocational qualifications; obtaining professional and character references; checking previous employment history and that a candidate has the health and physical capacity for the job (making reasonable adjustments where necessary). Candidates will always undergo a face to face interview. The College will carry out the mandatory DBS checks, as well as informing shortlisted candidates that online searches will be carried out.

The College will follow the guidance contained in Keeping Children Safe in Education (KCSiE 2023), the DfE Document: Department for Education Guidance Safeguarding Children and Safer Recruiting in Education, 2007, and in Working Together to Safeguard Children (2018). The Childcare Act of 2006 was put in place to prevent adults who have been cautioned or convicted of a number of specific offences from working within childcare. We will check for disqualification under the Childcare Act as part of our safer recruitment processes for any offences committed by staff members or volunteers.

4. Carry out regular child protection training, in line with legal requirements.

All staff are expected to be aware of the signs and symptoms of abuse and must be able to respond appropriately.

All staff, in whatever role, will undertake training to equip them to carry out their responsibilities for child protection effectively. This will be kept up to date by regular refresher training and through online training (Smartlog). The particular safeguarding risks for looked after children are always included in this training, as well as those for other vulnerable groups of children (see Definitions & Types of Abuse section of the policy). Also included in the training is guidance on how to act out of hours or on college trips, where either the police or College emergency contacts should be notified.

Detailed child protection training will be part of Induction for all new staff.

All staff will receive a copy of the Child Protection & Safeguarding Policy & Procedures, and a copy of the Staff Code of Conduct (contained within the Staff Handbook) as well as the current Keeping Children Safe in Education (part 1) (KCSiE). All staff will have a copy of the Child Protection memo to refer to at all times. How to spot and refer possible indicators of Extremism are also dealt with in this memo.

The Designated Safeguarding Lead and other Designated Deputy Safeguarding Leads will undertake refresher training as required (currently annually) to keep their knowledge and skills up to date and also develop knowledge more regularly (as outlined in KCSiE.) The Designated Teacher for Looked after children (Lucy Poynter) will receive specialist training in issues concerning Looked After Children and pass this on to other relevant staff.

Any update in national or local guidance will be shared with all staff in briefings and then captured in the next refresher training. This policy will be updated during the year to reflect any changes brought about by new guidance.

Governor/Trustee training is provided as required by KCSiE 2023 and a link Governor with responsibility for safeguarding is appointed.

5. Publish and implement clearly defined procedures for identifying and reporting cases, or suspected cases, of abuse.

See procedures below, including managing allegations against other students.

6. Develop and promote effective working relationships with other agencies, especially the Police and Children's Services.

The Designated Safeguarding Lead, all DSLs, and the Counsellors will liaise closely with other agencies that support students such as MASH, EHH, Hampshire YSS, Children's Services, Child and Adolescent Mental Health Services, YPI, Catch-22, Education Welfare Service, Educational Psychology Service, and The Channel Programme. They will attend Child Protection Reviews, CAMHS reviews, Child In Need conferences, and Team Around The Child/Family or relevant multi-agency meetings, as invited. The Designated Safeguarding Lead and all DSLs will receive training as to how to contribute effectively to review meetings, and support Social Workers to take decisions about individual students.

7. Implement our PREVENT Action Plan in line with our PREVENT Risk Assessment. (see separate documents).

The Prevent Duty requires that all staff are aware of the signs that a student may be susceptible to radicalisation. The risks include, but are not limited to, political, environmental, animal rights, or faith based extremism that may lead to a student becoming radicalised. All staff have undertaken e-learning and received awareness training in order that they can identify the signs of children being radicalised. We train staff (including Governors and Trustees) in spotting possible indicators of extremism and how to refer using our safeguarding procedures. We share concerns with all relevant agencies and authorities, including police and local authority/Department of Education PREVENT coordinators. We provide pastoral care and support for students and staff affected.

There is no single way of identifying whether a student is likely to be susceptible to an extremist ideology. Background factors combined with specific influences such as family and friends may contribute to a student's susceptibility. Similarly, radicalisation and the grooming of children can occur through many different methods, such as social media or the internet, and at different settings.

As part of the preventative process resilience to radicalisation through Tutorial sessions and the curriculum, we make students aware of the dangers of extremism and what to do if they are worried about someone. In addition, we focus on fundamental British/human values of Individual Liberty, The Rule of Law, Democracy and Mutual Respect and Tolerance.

Any student who is considered susceptible to radicalisation will be referred by a DSL to Hampshire children's social care and Prevent leads, where the concerns will be considered in the MASH process. If the police prevent officer considers the information to be indicating a level of risk, a "multi-agency channel meeting (Channel Panel)" will be convened and the College will attend and support this process.

There is careful management of external speakers and visitors, publicity materials, and IT equipment and systems – where users are researching terrorism and extremism for whatever reason (including as part of their studies) on our equipment, we are aware.

In addition:

Whistleblowing

We have clear and visible policies and procedures in place for managing whistleblowing and complaints.

Documentation

Any documents regarding Child Protection issues will be kept by the DSLs until the child's 25th birthday. This information will be stored securely (on file and on CPOMs) and will be held separately from the student's routine paperwork. It will only be used for the purposes of child protection, and only be shared with relevant agencies under strict guidance from the police/children's services, in line with GDPR regulations.

Use of college premises for non-college activities

Where we hire or rent out college/QM Leisure facilities / premises to organisations or individuals, for example sports associations, we will ensure that the appropriate level of security protection procedures are in place in order to safeguard our systems, staff and learners. We will review the effectiveness of these procedures periodically to keep up with evolving cyber-crime technologies, in order to keep our staff and children safe. This applies regardless of whether or not children who attend the college are part of the event.

Procedures

The following procedures apply to all staff working in the College/Trust and will be covered by training to enable staff to understand their role and responsibilities.

The aim of our procedures is to provide a robust framework which enables staff to take appropriate action when they are worried that a student is being abused.

The prime concern at all stages must be the interests and safety of the student. Where there is a conflict of interest between the student and an adult, the interests of the student must be paramount.

Students with disabilities, special needs or with language delay may communicate concerns with behaviours rather than words. Staff will question the cause of knocks and bumps in students who have limited mobility.

We will work with students with all mental health conditions, having requested information regarding these conditions at enrolment and interview. We will work with the relevant health professionals. We will take account of government guidance in this respect.

Disclosure and Confidentiality

- All matters relating to child protection are to be treated as confidential and only shared as per the 'working together' guidance.
- Information will only be shared with agencies whom we have a statutory duty to share with or individuals within the College who 'need to know'.
- Where possible, but not when to do so would stop action being taken, we obtain a signed 'Permission to Share Information' agreement from students, or note this on the CMT star records system/CPOMs.
- All staff are aware that they cannot promise a student to keep a disclosure confidential.

As a general rule you should treat all personal (ie non-academic) information you acquire or hold in the course of working with students and families as confidential and take particular care with sensitive information. However, in cases of child protection you cannot promise confidentiality. You may be anxious about the legal or ethical restrictions on sharing information. Be mindful that passing on information might prevent a tragedy. Therefore, if you are unsure about whether or not to regard information as confidential, you MUST talk about the situation to a DSL. If you prefer, you can do this without disclosing the student's name.

A decision whether to disclose information may be particularly difficult if you think it may damage the trust between you and the student. Wherever possible you should try to obtain the student's consent to share information they have told you, and take their wishes and feelings into account. In order to get this consent, you should explain the problem to the student, seek agreement and explain the reasons if you decide to act against a parent or student's wishes. However, you do not need to seek consent where you consider that to do so would be contrary to a student's welfare, or if urgent action is required. In some instances, seeking consent may prejudice a police investigation or may increase the risk of harm to the student. The law recognises that disclosure of confidential information without consent may be justified in the public interest to prevent harm to others. Similarly, you do not need to gain consent in cases concerning potential extremism or radicalization, where to do so would endanger the child, or other people.

The key factor in deciding whether or not to disclose confidential information is proportionality: is the proposed disclosure a proportionate response to the need to protect the welfare of the student? The amount of confidential information disclosed, and the number of people to whom it is disclosed, should be no more than is strictly necessary to meet the public interest in protecting the health and wellbeing of a student ('the need to know basis'). This is particularly important where there is a serious allegation directly against the parents, guardians, close family members or friends, or in cases of allegations against other students or staff.

Decisions regarding communicating with parents/guardians should always be clear and should be made jointly by whichever authorities are involved, including the college. This should be the case even if one of the statutory agencies is present in college at the time the allegation is made.

Referrals – Procedures for ALL staff

It is important that everyone in Queen Mary's College is aware that the person who first encounters a case of alleged or suspected abuse is not responsible for deciding whether or not abuse has occurred. That is a task for the professional child protection agencies following a referral to them of concern about a child.

If a member of staff has concerns about a student's welfare, suspects abuse or potential radicalisation, spots signs or indicators of abuse, or they have a disclosure of abuse made to them they must:

- Support the child: listen, reassure, and be available
 - Share knowledge only with appropriate professional colleagues
 - Try to get some support for themselves if needed.
 - All staff should be aware that students may not feel ready or know how to tell somebody that they are being abused, exploited or neglected and/or they may not recognise their experiences as harmful
1. Make an initial record of the information.
 2. Report it to a DSL immediately, or, if out of hours/on a trip and you consider it urgent, report to the police and email or phone the DSL.

3. The DSL will consider if there is a requirement for immediate intervention, however urgent medical attention should not be delayed if a DSL or Principal is not immediately available (follow separate first aid procedures if the situation requires).
4. Make an accurate record (which may be used in any subsequent court proceedings) as soon as possible and within 24 hours of the occurrence, of all that has happened, including details of:
 - Dates and times of your observations
 - Dates and times of any discussions you were involved in
 - Any injuries (use a body map if required)
 - Explanations given by the student/adult
 - What action was taken
 - Any actual words or phrases used by the student
5. The records must be signed and dated. Pass all relevant documents and records to a Designated Safeguarding Lead for safekeeping.
6. No student should ever be asked to remove clothing by a member of staff.

You may be approached by Children's Services or another agency – e.g. GP - and asked to provide information about a student or family or to be involved in an assessment or to attend a Child Protection Conference. Contact a designated DSL for advice. They will ensure a member of the Safeguarding team will respond to the request, or attend the meeting on behalf of the College.

Remember: If you have concerns about a student's welfare, you can always discuss your concerns with a member of the College's Safeguarding Team.

Remember: An allegation of child abuse, extremism or neglect may lead to a criminal investigation, so don't do anything that may jeopardise a Police investigation, such as asking a student leading questions or attempting to investigate.

In all cases communicate with the student in a way that is appropriate to their age, understanding and preference. This is especially important for students who have any form of disability or learning difficulty and for those whose first language is not English. The nature of this communication will also depend on the substance and seriousness of the concerns and you may require advice from one of our team to ensure that neither the safety of the student nor any subsequent investigation is jeopardised.

Referrals - DSL Actions

Following a report of concerns from a member of staff, the DSL must:

Decide whether or not there are sufficient grounds for suspecting significant harm in which case a referral must be made to Children's Social Care and/or the police if it is in keeping with the National Police Chiefs Council "When to call the Police" guidance. The rationale for this decision should be recorded by the DSL. The written referral must be made using the inter-agency referral form (IARF)

which will provide children's social care with the supplementary information required about the student and family's circumstances. (IARF can be accessed at the following link https://forms.hants.gov.uk/en/AchieveForms/?form_uri=sandbox-publish://AF-Process-7e6115a7-b0ba-484d-991f-084c1248ac72/AF-Stage-52cf8e73-0daf-47d4-bb55-0fdad856d3e6/definition.json&redirectlink=/en&cancelRedirectLink=/en)

We must make a clear statement of:

- the known facts
- any suspicions or allegations
- whether or not there has been any contact with the child's family

Normally the College should try to discuss any concerns about a student's welfare with the family and where possible to seek their agreement before making a referral to children's social care. However, in accordance with DfE guidance, this should only be done when it will not place the student at increased risk or could impact a police investigation. The student's views should also be taken into account.

If the DSL feels unsure about whether a referral is necessary, they can phone Children's Reception Team (CRT) Professionals Line 01329 225379 to discuss concerns.

At all times the DSL will consider:

- The wishes of the victim.
- The nature of the incident including whether a crime has been committed and the harm caused.
- Ages of the student/young people involved.
- Developmental stages of all involved.
- Any power imbalance between those involved.
- Any previous incidents as noted on CMT star, CPOMs or from school
- On-going risks
- Other related issues or wider context.

If there is not a risk of significant harm, then the DSL will either actively monitor the situation or consider the early help process.

The DSL/s will follow up all referrals if we do not hear back from CSD.

DSLs will also use the child exploitation risk assessment form (CERAF) and associated guidance from the Hampshire Safeguarding Children Partnership to identify students who are at risk; the DSL will share this information as appropriate with children's social care.

<https://hipsprocedures.org.uk/gkyyoy/children-in-specific-circumstances/children-who-are-exploited>.

Specific Issues – All Staff and DSLs

Abduction

If you become aware of an abduction - inform a DSL. We will follow the HIPS procedure and contact the police and children's social care (if they are not already aware). If we are made aware of a potential risk of abduction we will seek advice and support from police and children's social care to confirm that they are aware and seek clarity on what actions we are able to take.

Child Exploitation

We recognise that we may have information or intelligence that could be used to both protect children and prevent risk. If there is information or intelligence about child criminal exploitation, drug dealing, county lines or anything relevant, DSLs will report this to the police via the community partnership information form. <https://www.safe4me.co.uk/portfolio/sharing-information/>

Fabricated Illness

If we are concerned that a student may be suffering from fabricated or induced illness, we will follow the HIPS protocol and inform children's social care.

FGM (Female Genital Mutilation)

On the 31 October 2015, it became mandatory for teachers to report known cases of FGM to the police. 'Known' cases are those where either a girl informs the person that an act of FGM – however described – has been carried out on her, or where the person observes physical signs on a girl appearing to show that an act of FGM has been carried out and the person has no reason to believe that the act was, or was part of, a surgical operation within section 1(2)(a) or (b) of the FGM Act. QMC takes the view that a DSL will report together with a teacher/member of support staff, so please report in the usual way. Clearly it is not our role to ask to see any physical evidence.

Honour Based Abuse

All forms of honour based abuse are abusive (regardless of the motivation) and should be handled and escalated as such. If staff believe that a student is at risk from or has already suffered from any form of honour-based abuse, they should report to the DSL who will follow the usual safeguarding referral process; however, if it is clear that a crime has been committed or the student is at immediate risk, the police will be contacted in the first instance. It is important that, if honour-based abuse is known or suspected, communities and family members are NOT spoken to prior to referral to the police or social care as this could increase risk to the student.

Looked After Children

We will have specific regard to the welfare of looked after children who will meet regularly with the Designated Teacher. When children are taken into care, consideration may be given in the future to those children being returned to the care of their parents, or one of their parents. Other children are placed in care on a voluntary basis by the parents and they are able to remove their voluntary consent. While this is a positive experience for many children who have returned to their families, for some there are different challenges and stresses in this process. If we are aware of one of our students who is looked after is returning to their home, we will consider what support we can offer and ensure as a minimum that the student has a person, that they trust, who they can talk to or share their concerns with.

Absent from Education or Home

Attendance monitoring is vital in establishing patterns of absenteeism from education. QMC will inform all parents of students who are absent (unless the parent has informed us). If the parent is also unaware of the location of their child, and the definition of absent is met, we will either support the parent to contact the police or do so ourselves.

Where staff have concerns that a student is absent from home or care, or are alerted to such concerns by parents or carers, they must report to a DSL, who will consider various categories of risk using Hampshire Local Safeguarding Children's Partnership guidance. Early intervention is necessary to identify the existence of any underlying safeguarding risk and to help prevent the risks of a child being absent in future.

Child on child/Sexual Abuse

This section is about how staff should respond to all reports and concerns of child on child abuse and sexual harassment, including those that have happened outside of college premises, and or online. All staff will maintain the attitude that "it could happen here".

Our initial response to a report of sexual or child on child abuse is incredibly important and can encourage or undermine the confidence of victims of sexual violence and harassment to report or to come forward in the future. It is clear from the 2022 Ofsted review into SVSH in schools and colleges that the prevalence of abusive and unwanted behaviour is widespread. As such staff in the college will remain vigilant and intervene early to prevent low level behaviours from becoming abusive experiences.

If a concern is raised that a student under 18 is abusing another student under 18, the 'Child on Child Abuse' guidance in KCSiE will be followed. We will challenge all contact behaviours that have a sexual nature to them such as pushing or rubbing against, grabbing bottoms, breasts or genitals, pinching or flicking bras, lifting skirts or pulling down trousers and impose appropriate levels of disciplinary action, to be clear that these behaviours are not tolerated or acceptable.

If we have concerns about a student in respect of relationship abuse, we will report those concerns in line with procedures to the appropriate authorities as a safeguarding concern, a crime or both. If the report includes an online element, staff will be mindful of the Searching, Screening and Confiscation: advice for schools (DfE 2018) guidance.

Support will be provided to all victims or alleged perpetrators of sexual abuse and we will ensure that they are kept safe. Both should be asked whether they would find it helpful to have a designated trusted adult to talk about their needs. The choice of any such adult should be made by the victims (as far as reasonably possible) and this choice should be supported.

Following any report, the DSL will make an immediate risk and needs assessment on a case-by-case basis.

The risk assessment will consider:

- The victim, especially their protection and support.
- The alleged perpetrator, their support needs, and any disciplinary action.
- All other students and staff in College/Trust
- The victim and the alleged perpetrator sharing classes and space (including transport) - we will do everything possible to keep them apart.

The risk assessment will be recorded and kept under review. Where there has been other professional intervention and/or other specialist risk assessments these will be used to inform our approach. (Template for risk assessment is given on page 28)

Where there is a criminal investigation into a rape, assault by penetration or sexual assault, the alleged perpetrator will be removed from any classes they share with the victim during that investigation if at all possible.

Where a criminal investigation into a rape or assault by penetration leads to a conviction or caution, we will take suitable action as recommended by the courts, the Youth Offending Team, and/or police. In all but the most exceptional of circumstances, the rape or assault is likely to constitute a serious breach of discipline and lead to the view that allowing the perpetrator to remain in the same college would seriously harm the education or welfare of the victim (and potentially other students).

Where a criminal investigation into sexual assault leads to a conviction or caution, we will consider any suitable sanctions including consideration of permanent exclusion. Where the perpetrator is going to remain in college, the principle of keeping the victim and perpetrator in separate classes where possible will be maintained. Consideration will be given in the risk assessment to the most appropriate way to manage potential contact on college premises and transport. The nature of the conviction or caution and wishes of the victim will be especially important in determining how to proceed in such cases.

If a report is determined to be unsubstantiated, unfounded, false or malicious, the DSL will consider whether the person who has made the allegation is in need of help or may have been abused by someone else and whether this is 'a cry for help'. In such circumstances, a referral to children's social care may be appropriate. If a report is shown to be deliberately invented or malicious, we may choose to take disciplinary action against the individual who made it.

In summary, in terms of online sexual abuse, we will:

- Report to the police, CEOP, Instagram, Facebook etc or any other relevant body any on-line sexual abuse or harmful content we are made aware of. This could include sending abusive, harassing and misogynistic messages; sharing nude and semi-nude images and videos; and coercing others to make and share sexual imagery. We will seek guidance from the NPCC 'when to call the police' document and the Internet Watch Foundations 'report harmful content' website
- Educate to raise awareness of what on-line sexual abuse is, how it can happen, how to limit the impact and what to do if students or staff become aware of it.
- Support victims of on-line abuse through the Wellbeing Hub

Physical Abuse

Will be dealt with through our College Expectations policy. Please contact a senior member of staff for fighting etc. Contact a DSL for other suspected abuse as normal. If it is believed that a crime has been committed, this will be reported to the police by a DSL.

Prevent, Radicalisation, Extremism

QMC will adhere to the Counter Terrorism and Security Act (2015) Prevent Duty and therefore aim to intervene early to protect and divert people away from the risks they may potentially face before illegality occurs. We will challenge any ideology that supports extremism and/or terrorism to protect vulnerable individuals.

The College will collaborate with all statutory partners, the police and the local community to identify individuals at risk of being drawn into any form of extremism; assess the nature and extent of that risk; and develop the most appropriate support plan for the individuals concerned.

Where you suspect a student is at risk of being drawn into terrorism, extremism or radicalisation you are duty bound to report this immediately to a member of the College's Safeguarding team, who will make the appropriate decision around the information submitted after an internal review. They will follow the Prevent and Channel Process Map (see below). We will report to MASH and to the Prevent hotline, using the relevant forms here <https://www.hants.gov.uk/community/prevent>. We will liaise with the DFE representative Alamgir Sheriyar:

Alamgir Sheriyar, Prevent Regional HE/FE Co-ordinator – South East of England

Email: alamgir.sheriyar@education.gov.uk; Mobile: 07468714372

Trafficking

If staff believe that a student is being trafficked or is a slave, this will be reported to a DSL for referral to be considered to children's social care.

Upskirting

If staff are made aware that upskirting has occurred, then this will be treated as a sexual offence and should be reported to a DSL accordingly. If technology that is designed for covert placement and could be used to take upskirting or indecent images is discovered in College it will be confiscated. If the technology is in location and potentially may have captured images, this will be reported to the police and left in situ so that appropriate forensic measures can be taken to gather evidence. Any confiscated technology will be passed to the Principal or Deputy Principal to make a decision about what happens to the items and will be carried out under the principles set out in the government guidance on searching, screening and confiscation.

Urgent Danger/Medical Attention

If a student is in immediate danger and urgent protective action is required, the Police must be called. The DSL must also notify children's social care of the occurrence and what action has been taken. We will use the guidance from NPCC to determine when to contact the police.

When a student is in need of urgent medical attention call 1st Aid on 3210. Where there is suspicion of abuse, the DSL or senior staff member should follow first aid procedures, as well as notifying children's social care. The DSL should seek advice about what action children's social care will take and about informing the parents/guardians, remembering that parents should normally be informed that a student requires urgent hospital attention.

Young Carers

We will have specific regard to the welfare of young carers, whom we will refer to children's social care for a carer's assessment to be carried out if we have any concerns. We will consider support that can be offered and make use of the resources and guidance from Save the Children in their young carers' work. We work closely with Basingstoke and Andover Young Carers' groups.

For any referral, records will be regularly reviewed so that potential patterns of concerning, problematic or inappropriate behaviour can be identified and addressed.

Protecting yourself - All Staff

Dealing with a disclosure from a student and safeguarding issues can be stressful. Seek support from your line manager and discuss with HR, or a member of the Safeguarding Team.

Seek to minimise the risk of any situation arising in which misunderstandings can occur. The following sensible precautions can be taken when working alone with students:

- work in a room where there is a glass panel in the door or leave the door open
- make sure that other adults visit the room occasionally
- avoid working in isolation with students

- do not give out personal mobile phone numbers or private e-mail addresses
- do not engage in communications with parents or students from the college community in any personal social media. If any parent or student requests such communication, report this to a member of the Safeguarding Team.
- set all privacy settings to the highest possible levels on all personal social media accounts
- do not give students lifts in your cars
- do not arrange to meet students outside of normal college hours

Under the Sexual Offences Act 2003 it is a criminal offence for anyone working in an educational setting to have a sexual relationship with a student even when the student is over the age of consent. For sensible use of force and restraint, please read the relevant policy. For permitted use of social media, please read the guidelines in the staff handbook.

Concerns and Allegations Against Staff

If a concern is raised about the practise or behaviour of a member of staff, this information will be recorded and passed to Mark Henderson (Principal) or Sally Anne Spooner (HR Director). The Principal will make an assessment to determine if the matter is a 'low level concern' or an 'allegation'. The Local Authority Designated Officer (LADO) will be contacted for all allegations and the relevant guidance will be followed. If the Principal needs advice or guidance they will contact the LADO. If the allegation is against the Principal, the person receiving the allegation will contact the LADO or Chair of Governors or Trustees directly. Allegations of abuse against ex-members of staff will be referred to the police. Please read the separate policy on Dealing with Allegations of Abuse.

CHILD PROTECTION PROCEDURES AT QMC

If in doubt – share with a member of the Safeguarding Team!

1. If a child discloses something that appears to put them at risk of significant harm, and therefore be a potential child protection issue, you should seek advice from Kate Need, Sally-Anne Spooner, Lucy Poynter, Barbara Dossett, Lyn Oram, Shellie Rashbrook, Shani Thorpe, Peter Fife-Faulkner or Marianne Chedgey. In this instance you cannot promise confidentiality, because it may be putting them, or other siblings, at risk. If you have an urgent child protection case you may contact Help Desk, who will find a trained member of staff for you. Do not attempt to deal with difficult cases on your own or without support.
2. As part of noticing signs and symptoms which might cause you to seek advice, please be aware that we are now also legally required to refer on anyone at risk of “being drawn into terrorism”. This includes all forms of extremism which threaten fundamental British values, including the extreme right. The aim of referring is to seek support for the student concerned. Signs to look out for:
 - Seeing any worrying changes in behaviour or attitudes to authority. For example students may suddenly become more aggressive, isolated, vengeful etc.)
 - Hearing any concerning outlooks being expressed, for example as regards the value of human life, race, religion, minority groups etc.

Please pass these concerns on through the usual safeguarding systems. We will refer concerns to the appropriate bodies and offer support. Where possible please seek the consent of the student concerned before referring on, but you are not obliged to.

3. If you are a teacher, you can (and should) contact parents about matters relating to a student’s academic progress or with other concerns unless there is a note on VISTA to the contrary. You must not divulge information about a student to anyone who is not a named contact, regardless of their relationship to the student. If you are contacted in this way and the person is insistent, please refer the case directly to the Principal.
4. Do not contact parents about medical information that a student has requested be kept confidential (e.g. pregnancy, terminations). However, you might attempt to get them to talk to their parents, to a Counsellor or a member of the Wellbeing Team, or to their tutor (if you are not the tutor).
5. If a child is experiencing any form of bullying refer the matter to your Assistant Principal, Deputy Principal or, in serious cases, The Principal. In cases involving cyber-bullying students must keep all relevant evidence (texts, Facebook messages, etc) Do not ask to see material of a sexual nature, this must be referred to the police to deal with.
6. Keep yourself safe – do not communicate with students on sites such as Facebook, do not give them your personal mobile number (except in extreme cases such as when you are off-site on trips), or any other personal details, do not comfort students with overt displays of affection etc. If anything happens which could be misconstrued, talk to your line manager about it.

7. If there is a violent incident in your department, class or elsewhere in College, call security – phone the Help Desk on 3210 (the same number as First Aid). Do not put yourself in a dangerous situation. While you wait for security attempt to calm the situation by talking to the student(s) concerned, or separating him/her/them from the rest of the group if possible.

If you are approached by a student about whom you have concerns

1. Listen carefully – don't ask leading questions
2. Bring the student to see a member of the team as soon as you can.
3. Make a record of the conversation as soon as you can and pass this to Kate Need, Sally-Anne Spooner, Lucy Poynter Barbara Dossett, Lyn Oram, Shellie Rashbrook, Shani Thorpe, Peter Fife-Faulkner or Marianne Chedgy.

If you are approached by a student in the evening or outside usual College hours

If you are on site take them to the Sports Centre.

If you are not on site, and it is via email, ensure that a member of the team is alerted to the situation as soon as possible and inform your line manager and AP, Kate or Mark by text, phone call or email.

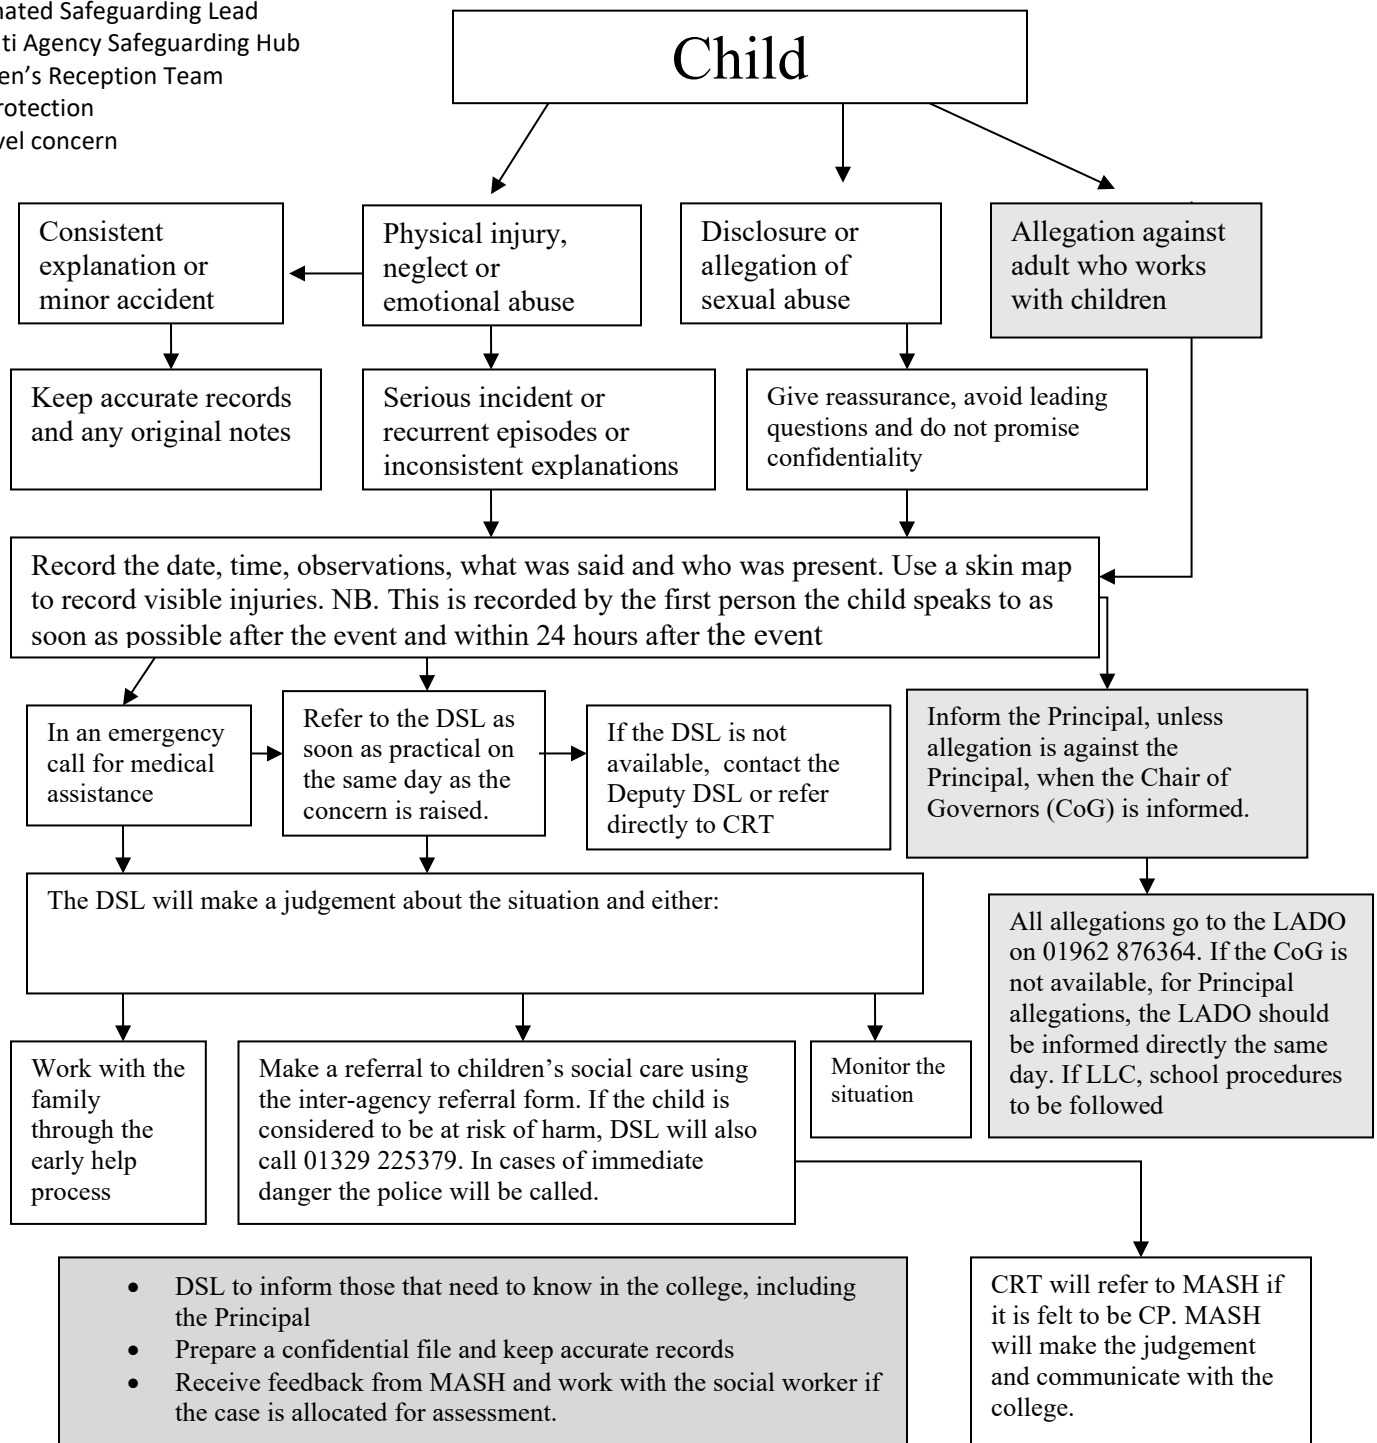

You may want to encourage a student to stay with a friend or safe family member that night. If the situation is really urgent, direct the student to the Police Station, or phone the police and ask them to visit the student at home, or, if you are in College, come to us. The number for Basingstoke police is 101. Explain that it is a child protection emergency. Make a record of the conversation as soon as you can and pass this to a member of the At Risk and Child Protection team.

If the matter is health related (e.g. self-harm) and it is out of hours, refer the student to their GP, the NHS (111) The Samaritans (116 123) or A&E. Reassure them that they will be able to talk to someone at college the next working day. Again, inform one of SLT or the Safeguarding team ASAP.

Prevent and Channel Process Map

Process map for reporting a concern of a vulnerable individual

It is important for you as a member of staff to know where to go if you have a concern that someone may be on the route to radicalisation. Below is a flow chart which aims to show the process as to which you can follow:

Once a referral has been made and enters the Channel process, the below process map illustrates what happens next...

Further information gathering with QMC and other key agencies that the individual is involved with. Are there shared concerns between partners? Is there a susceptibility to radicalisation?

N

If it is deemed there is low risk – further action within normal support. Key agency progresses with further monitoring.

Yes

Local Authority will organise a Multi-Agency Channel meeting which will be made of key partners. The meeting will be chaired by your Local Authority.

It is important to remember that consent is gained with the individual to be part of Channel support and intervention.

Implement support plan depending on level of risk.

Regularly review process – Channel Panel members work together to review progress and reduce risks.

The student will exit the Channel process when all partner agencies feel that the susceptibility to radicalisation has been completely removed or significantly lessened.

27

Once a referral has exited the process, it will be reviewed at 6 and 12 months. If concerns remain, the student can be re-referred.

Definitions. High Risk and Emerging Safeguarding Issues

The definitions below are listed in alphabetical order, not in order of significance. All abuse will be taken equally seriously and must be reported to a DSL, who will report it on as required.

Abuse - A form of maltreatment of a child. Somebody may abuse or neglect a child by inflicting harm, or by failing to act to prevent harm. Children may be abused in a family or in an institutional or community setting by those known to them or, more rarely, by others. Abuse can take place wholly online, or technology may be used to facilitate offline abuse. Children may be abused by an adult or adults, another child or children.

There are a number of indicators of abuse which should cause you to seek advice from, or report to, a DSL immediately you have any concerns. These indicators are listed in the Appendix at the end of this document.

Breast Ironing - Breast Ironing also known as 'Breast Flattening' is the process whereby young pubescent girls' breasts are ironed, massaged and/or pounded down through the use of hard or heated objects in order for the breasts to disappear or delay the development of the breasts entirely. It is believed that by carrying out this act, young girls will be protected from harassment, rape, abduction and early forced marriage and therefore be kept in education. Much like Female Genital Mutilation (FGM), Breast Ironing is a harmful cultural practice and is child abuse.

Bullying including cyberbullying – Bullying is behaviour by an individual or group, repeated over time, that intentionally hurts another individual or group either physically or emotionally. Bullying can take many forms (for instance, cyber-bullying via text messages or the internet), and is often motivated by prejudice against particular groups, for example on grounds of race, religion, gender, sexual orientation, or because a student is adopted or has caring responsibilities. It might be motivated by actual differences between students, or perceived differences. Stopping violence and ensuring immediate physical safety is obviously our first priority, but emotional bullying can be more damaging than physical. See separate policy. See also DFE Guidance, <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/preventing-and-tackling-bullying>

Child abduction - is the unauthorised removal or retention of a minor from a parent or anyone with legal responsibility for the child. Child abduction can be committed by parents or other family members; by people known but not related to the victim (such as neighbours, friends and acquaintances); and by strangers. Further information is available at: www.actionagainstabduction.org

When we consider who is abducted and who abducts:

- Nearly three-quarters of children abducted abroad by a parent are aged between 0 and 6 years-old
- Roughly equal numbers are boys and girls
- Two-thirds of children are from minority ethnic groups.

- 70% of abductors are mothers. The vast majority have primary care or joint primary care for the child abducted.
- Many abductions occur during school holidays when a child is not returned following a visit to the parent's home country (so-called 'wrongful retentions')

Child Criminal Exploitation (including County Lines) - Child Criminal Exploitation is defined as: 'where an individual or group takes advantage of an imbalance of power to coerce, control, manipulate or deceive a child or young person under the age of 18 into any criminal activity (a) in exchange for something the victim needs or wants, and/or (b) for the financial or other advantage of the perpetrator or facilitator and/or (c) through violence or threat of violence. The victim may have been criminally exploited even if the activity appears consensual. Child Criminal Exploitation does not always involve physical contact; it can occur through the use of technology.'

The exploitation of children and young people for crime is not a new phenomenon - as evidenced by Fagan's gang in Charles Dickens book, Oliver Twist. Children under the age of criminal responsibility, or young people who have increased susceptibility due to 'push/pull factors' who are manipulated, coerced or forced into criminal activity provide opportunity for criminals to distance themselves from crime.

It is important to note that the experience of girls who are criminally exploited can be very different to that of boys. The indicators may not be the same, however professionals should be aware that girls are at risk of criminal exploitation too. It is also important to note that both boys and girls being criminally exploited may be at higher risk of sexual exploitation.

'County Lines' is criminal exploitation of children and young people, which refers to a 'phone line through which drug deals can be made. An order is placed on the number and typically a young person will deliver the drugs to the specified address and collect the money for the deal. These lines are owned and managed by organised crime gangs, often from larger cities, who are expanding their markets into rural areas. Children are often recruited to move drugs and money between locations and are known to be exposed to techniques such as 'plugging', where drugs are concealed internally to avoid detection. Children can easily become trapped by this type of exploitation, as county lines gangs create drug debts and can threaten serious violence and kidnap towards victims (and their families) if they attempt to leave the county lines network.

Children who have been exploited will need additional support to help maintain them in education.

Child on Child Abuse (formerly Peer on Peer) – This can take different forms, such as sexual violence and sexual harassment (between two children or group of children of any age and sex), physical abuse such as hitting, kicking or shaking, Youth Produced Sexual Imagery (sexting), Upskirting (which is a criminal offence) or initiation type violence or rituals. This can take place in person, on line or via a mobile phone (via texting). The College has a zero tolerance of all peer-on-peer abuse.

Children Absent/Missing from Education, Home or Care - The police definition of 'missing' is: "Anyone whose whereabouts cannot be established will be considered as missing until located, and their well-being or otherwise confirmed."

Patterns of children who are absent from education can be an indicator of either abuse or safeguarding risks. A relatively short length of time a child is absent does not reduce risk of harm to that child, and all absence or non-attendance should be considered with other known factors or concerns. It is known that children who go missing are at risk of suffering significant harm, and there are specific risks around children running away and the risk of sexual exploitation.

Children who run away from home or from care provide a clear behavioural indication that they are either unhappy or do not feel safe in the place of residence. Research shows that children run away from conflict or problems at home or school, neglect or abuse, or because children are being groomed by predatory individuals who seek to exploit them. Many run away on numerous occasions.

QMC will view absence as both a safeguarding issue and an educational outcomes issue.

The Hampshire Police Force, as the lead agency for investigating and finding absent children, will respond to children going who are absent based on on-going risk assessments in line with current guidance. Various categories of risk should be considered and Hampshire Local Safeguarding Children's Partnership provides further guidance which we will adhere to:

Local authorities have safeguarding duties in relation to children absent from home and should work with the police to risk assess and analyse data for patterns that indicate particular concerns and risks. The police will prioritise all incidents of absent children as medium or high risk. Where a child is recorded as being absent, the details will be recorded by the police, who will also agree review times and any on-going actions with person reporting.

A missing child incident would be prioritised as 'high risk' where:

- the risk posed is immediate and there are substantial grounds for believing that the child is in danger through their own vulnerability; or*
- the child may have been the victim of a serious crime; or*
- the risk posed is immediate and there are substantial grounds for believing that the public is in danger.*

The high-risk category requires the immediate deployment of police resources.

Authorities need to be alert to the risk of sexual exploitation or involvement in drugs, gangs or criminal activity, trafficking and aware of local "hot spots" as well as concerns about any individuals with whom children run away. Child protection procedures must be initiated in collaboration with children's social care services whenever there are concerns that a child who is missing may be suffering, or likely to suffer, significant harm.

Within any case of children who are absent, both push and pull factors will need to be considered. Push factors include:

- Conflict with parents/carers
- Feeling powerless
- Being bullied/abused
- Being unhappy/not being listened to
- The Trigger Trio (domestic abuse, parental mental ill health and parental substance misuse)

Pull factors include:

- Wanting to be with family/friends
- Drugs, money and any exchangeable item
- Peer pressure
- For those who have been trafficked into the United Kingdom as unaccompanied asylum-seeking children, there will be pressure to make contact with their trafficker

Child Sexual Exploitation (CSE) – CSE is a form of child sexual abuse. Sexual abuse may involve physical contact, including assault by penetration (for example, rape or oral sex) or nonpenetrative acts such as masturbation, kissing, rubbing, and touching outside clothing. It may include non-contact activities, such as involving children in the production of sexual images, forcing children to look at sexual images or watch sexual activities, encouraging children to behave in sexually inappropriate ways or grooming a child in preparation for abuse including via the internet.

CSE can happen to a child of any age, gender, ability or social status who has been coerced into engaging in sexual activities. This includes 16 and 17 year olds who can legally consent to have sex. Some children may not realise they are being exploited e.g. they believe they are in a genuine romantic relationship. (KCSiE 2023)

CSE may happen without the child's immediate knowledge e.g. through others sharing videos or images of them on social media. Often the victim of CSE is not aware that they are being exploited and do not see themselves as a victim.

CSE can be a one-off occurrence or a series of incidents over time and range from opportunistic to complex organised abuse. It can involve force and/or enticement-based methods of compliance and may, or may not, be accompanied by violence or threats of violence.

- Exploitation can be isolated (one-on-one) or organised group/criminal activity
- There can be a big age gap between victim and perpetrator, but it can also be peer-on-peer
- Boys can be targeted just as easily as girls – this is not gender specific
- Perpetrators can be women and not just men
- Exploitation can be between males and females or between the same genders
- Children with learning difficulties can be particularly vulnerable to exploitation as can children from particular groups, e.g. looked after children, young carers, children who have a history of physical, sexual emotional abuse or neglect or mental health problems; children who use drugs or alcohol, children who go missing from home or school, children involved in crime, children with parents/carers who have mental health problems, learning difficulties/other issues, children who associate with other children involved in exploitation. However, it is important to recognise that any child can be targeted.

Children with family members in prison - Approximately 200,000 children in England and Wales have a parent sent to prison each year. These children are at risk of poor outcomes including poverty, stigma, isolation and poor mental health and will be fully supported in College.

Contextual Safeguarding - In KCSiE 2023 the DfE refer to contextual safeguarding as a specific term that has come out of research from the University of Bedfordshire. The definition of Contextual Safeguarding is “an approach to understanding, and responding to, young people’s experiences of significant harm beyond their families. It recognises that the different relationships that young people form in their neighbourhoods, schools and online can feature violence and abuse. Parents and carers have little influence over these contexts, and young people’s experiences of extra-familial abuse can undermine parent-child relationships. Therefore, children’s social care practitioners need to engage with individuals and sectors who do have influence over/within extra- familial contexts, and recognise that assessment of, and intervention with, these spaces are a critical part of safeguarding practices. Contextual Safeguarding, therefore, expands the objectives of child protection systems in recognition that young people are vulnerable to abuse in a range of social contexts.”

As a College we will consider the various factors that have an interplay with the life of any student about whom we have concerns and the level of influence that these factors have on their ability to be protected and remain free from harm particularly when it comes to child exploitation or criminal activity.

While this term applies to this specific definition, the notion of considering a student within a specific context is also important. What life is like for a student outside of College, within the home, within the family and within the community are key considerations when the DSL is looking at any concerns.

Cybercrime - is criminal activity committed using computers and/or the internet. It is broadly categorised as either ‘cyber-enabled’ (crimes that can happen off-line but are enabled at scale and at speed on-line) or ‘cyber dependent’ (crimes that can be committed only by using a computer). Children with particular skills and interest in computing and technology may inadvertently or deliberately stray into cyber-dependent crime.

Domestic Abuse - The Domestic Abuse Act 2021 received Royal Assent on 29 April 2021. The Act introduces the first ever statutory definition of domestic abuse and recognises the impact of domestic abuse on children, as victims in their own right, if they see, hear or experience the effects of abuse. The statutory definition of domestic abuse, based on the previous cross-government definition, ensures that different types of relationships are captured, including ex-partners and family members. The definition captures a range of different abusive behaviours, including physical, emotional and economic abuse and coercive and controlling behaviour. Both the person who is carrying out the behaviour and the person to whom the behaviour is directed towards must be aged 16 or over and they must be “personally connected”.

Controlling behaviour is a range of acts designed to make a person subordinate and/or dependent by isolating them from sources of support, exploiting their resources and capacities for personal gain, depriving them of the means needed for independence, resistance and escape and regulating their everyday behaviour.

Coercive behaviour is an act or a pattern of acts of assault, threats, humiliation and intimidation or other abuse that is used to harm, punish, or frighten their victim.

Types of domestic abuse include intimate partner violence, abuse by family members, teenage relationship abuse and child/adolescent to parent violence and abuse. Anyone can be a victim of domestic abuse, regardless of sexual identity, age, ethnicity, socioeconomic status, sexuality or background and domestic abuse can take place inside or outside of the home. The government will issue statutory guidance to provide further information for those working with domestic abuse victims and perpetrators, including the impact on children.

All children can witness and be adversely affected by domestic abuse in the context of their home life where domestic abuse occurs between family members. Experiencing domestic abuse and/or violence can have a serious, long lasting emotional and psychological impact on children. In some cases, a child may blame themselves for the abuse or may have had to leave the family home as a result.

Helplines etc. for domestic abuse are available on the student portal or from Wellbeing.

Drugs – this includes alcohol, tobacco, illegal drugs, medicines, new psychoactive substances (“legal highs”) and volatile substances. See separate policy and DFE guidance, <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/drugs-advice-for-Colleges>

Emotional abuse - The persistent emotional maltreatment of a child such as to cause severe and persistent adverse effects on the child’s emotional development. It may involve conveying to a child that they are worthless or unloved, inadequate, or valued only insofar as they meet the needs of another person. It may include not giving the child opportunities to express their views, deliberately silencing them or ‘making fun’ of what they say or how they communicate. It may feature age or developmentally inappropriate expectations being imposed on children. These may include interactions that are beyond a child’s developmental capability, as well as overprotection and limitation of exploration and learning, or preventing the child participating in normal social interaction. It may involve seeing or hearing the ill-treatment of another. It may involve serious bullying (including cyber bullying), causing children frequently to feel frightened or in danger, or the exploitation or corruption of children. Some level of emotional abuse is involved in all types of maltreatment of a child, though it may occur alone

Extremism:

Vocal or active opposition to Fundamental British Values, including democracy, the rule of law, individual liberty and mutual respect and tolerance of different faiths and beliefs. This also includes calls for the death of members of the British Armed Forces. (From the PREVENT Guidance)

Fabricated or Induced Illness (Perplexing Presentations) - The fabrication or induction of illness in children by a carer has been referred to by a number of different terms, most commonly Munchausen Syndrome by Proxy, Factitious Illness by Proxy, or Illness Induction Syndrome. The Royal College of Paediatrics and Child Health have added the term “Perplexing presentations” to the guidance around FII. There are three main ways of the carer fabricating or inducing illness in a child. These are not mutually exclusive and include:

- fabrication of signs and symptoms. This may include fabrication of past medical history;
- fabrication of signs and symptoms and falsification of hospital charts and records, and specimens of bodily fluids. This may also include falsification of letters and documents;
- induction of illness by a variety of means.

See guidance at: <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/safeguarding-children-in-whom-illness-is-fabricated-or-induced>

Faith Abuse – is the mistreatment of a person by someone in a position of spiritual authority, resulting in diminishing that person’s sense of wellbeing and growth—both spiritually and emotionally. It is also defined as the use of spiritual authority, by words or actions, to manipulate someone for personal gain or to achieve a personal agenda.

See: <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/national-action-plan-to-tackle-child-abuse-linked-to-faith-or-belief>

Female Genital Mutilation (FGM) - FGM comprises all procedures involving partial or total removal of the external female genitalia or other injury to the female genital organs for non-medical reasons. It has no health benefits and harms girls and women in many ways. It involves removing and damaging healthy and normal female genital tissue, and hence interferes with the natural function of girls’ and women’s bodies.

The age at which girls undergo FGM varies enormously according to the community. The procedure may be carried out when the girl is newborn, during childhood or adolescence, just before marriage or during the first pregnancy. However, the majority of cases of FGM are thought to take place between the ages of 5 and 8 and therefore girls within that age bracket are at a higher risk. FGM is illegal in the UK.

Forced Marriage (see also Marriage) - In the case of children: ‘a forced marriage is a marriage in which one or both spouses cannot consent to the marriage and duress is involved. By law, a person under the age of 18 cannot consent to marriage. Duress can include physical, psychological, financial, sexual and emotional pressure.’ In developing countries 11% of girls are married before the age of 15. One in 3 victims of forced marriage in the U.K. are under 18 *(see also Marriage). Advice and help can be obtained nationally through the Forced Marriage Unit and locally through the local police safeguarding team or children’s social care.

an alternative and fuller summary about the risk and impact of forced marriage on pupils can be found in the [multi-agency guidance of the forced marriage unit page 32 - 36]

Fundamental British Values – British values are defined by the Government as "democracy, the rule of law, individual liberty and mutual respect and tolerance for those with different faiths and beliefs"; institutions are expected to encourage students to respect other people with particular regard to the protected characteristics set out in the Equality Act 2010.

Gangs and youth violence – refers to group violence, often in the community. An organised criminal group is a group of individuals for whom involvement in crime is for personal gain (financial or otherwise). For most, however, crime is their 'occupation'. These groups operate almost exclusively in the grey and illegal marketplace where market transactions are totally unregulated by the law.

A gang is a relatively durable group who have a collective identity and meet frequently. They are predominantly street-based groups of young people who see themselves (and are seen by others) as a discernible group for whom crime and violence is integral to the group's identity.

A peer group is a relatively small, unorganised and transient group composed of peers who share the same space and a common history. Involvement in crime will be mostly be non-serious in nature and not integral to the identity of the group. (Adapted from Hallsworth S and Young T (2004) Getting Real About Gangs. Criminal Justice Matters (55)

Gender based violence / Violence against women and girls

<https://www.gov.uk/government/policies/violence-against-women-and-girls>

Female genital mutilation, forced marriage, honour based abuse and teenage relationship abuse all fall under this definition – see separate entries.

Grooming - On-line grooming is the process by which one person with an inappropriate sexual interest in children will approach a child on-line, with the intention of developing a relationship with that child, to be able to meet them in person and intentionally cause harm.

Additionally to being targeted for sexual motivations, some young people are also groomed online for exploitation or radicalisation. While the drivers and objectives are different, the actual process is broadly similar to radicalisation, with the exploitation of a person's vulnerability/susceptibility usually being the critical factor. Those who are targeted are often offered something ideological, such as an eternal spiritual reward, or sometimes something physical, such as an economic incentive, that will make them 'feel better' about themselves or their situation.

Anyone can be at risk. Age, social standing and education do not necessarily matter as much as we previously thought, and we have seen all kinds of people become radicalised, from young men and women with learning difficulties to adults in well-respected professions. What is clear is that, the more vulnerable the person, the easier it is to influence their way of thinking.

Homelessness - Being homeless or being at risk of becoming homeless presents a real risk to a child's welfare. Indicators that a family may be at risk of homelessness or eviction include household debt, rent arrears, domestic abuse and anti-social behaviour. We will progress housing referrals with the Local Housing Authority and with Children's Services as required. In some cases 16 and 17 year olds could be living independently from their parents or guardians, for example through their exclusion from the family home, and Children's social care will be the lead agency for these children.

Honour Based Abuse - So-called 'honour'-based abuse (HBA) encompasses incidents or crimes which have been committed to protect or defend the honour of the family and/or the community, including female genital mutilation (FGM), forced marriage, and practices such as breast ironing. Abuse committed in the context of preserving 'honour' often involves a wider network of family or community pressure and can include multiple perpetrators. It is important to be aware of this dynamic and additional risk factors when deciding what form of safeguarding action to take.

It is often linked to family or community members who believe someone has brought shame to their family or community by doing something that is not in keeping with their unwritten rule of conduct. For example, honour-based abuse might be committed against people who:

- become involved with a boyfriend or girlfriend from a different culture or religion
- want to get out of an arranged marriage
- want to get out of a forced marriage
- wear clothes or take part in activities that might not be considered traditional within a particular culture
- convert to a different faith from the family
- are exploring their sexuality or identity

Women and girls are the most common victims of honour-based abuse however, it can also affect men and boys. Crimes of 'honour' do not always include violence. Crimes committed in the name of 'honour' might include:

- domestic abuse
- threats of violence
- sexual or psychological abuse
- forced marriage
- being held against your will or taken somewhere you don't want to go
- assault

Marriage before the age of 18 - It is now illegal and a criminal offence under The Marriage and Civil Partnership (Minimum Age) Act 2022, to cause a child under the age of 18 to enter a marriage, in any circumstances. This includes non-legally binding 'traditional' ceremonies which would still be viewed as marriages by the parties and their families.

It means that 16 and 17 year olds will no longer be allowed to marry or enter a civil partnership, even if they have parental consent. Those found guilty of arranging, or being involved in any way in a child's marriage, faces a sentence of up to 7 years in prison.

(The Act does not change the age of marriage in Scotland or Northern Ireland as marriage is a devolved matter)

Mental Health - QMC recognises that there are a number of mental health conditions which make studying difficult, and may have safeguarding implications, eg. Anorexia Nervosa, OCD, Psychosis etc. All staff should also be aware that mental health problems can, in some cases, be an indicator that a student has suffered or is at risk of suffering abuse, neglect or exploitation.

See: <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/the-mental-health-strategy-for-england>

Missing, Exploited and Trafficked Children (MET) - Within Hampshire, the acronym MET is used to identify all children who are missing; believed to be at risk of or being exploited; or who are at risk of or are being trafficked. This includes missing from education, home or care. It can also include CCE, Child Criminal Exploitation (including County Lines) and Serious Violence – see separate entries.

Neglect - The persistent failure to meet a child's basic physical and/or psychological needs, likely to result in the serious impairment of the child's health or development. Neglect may occur during pregnancy as a result of maternal substance abuse. Once a child is born, neglect may involve a parent or carer failing to:

- a. Provide adequate food, clothing and shelter (including exclusion from home or abandonment)
- b. Protect a child from physical and emotional harm or danger
- c. Ensure adequate supervision (including the use of inadequate care-givers)
- d. Ensure access to appropriate medical care or treatment

Neglect may also include neglect of, or unresponsiveness to, a child's basic emotional needs.

The HSCP neglect strategy is used to provide a more detailed summary of neglect and the local thresholds for referrals.

Online Reputation - is the opinion others get of a person when they encounter them online. It is formed by posts, photos that have been uploaded and comments made by others on people's profiles. It is important that students and staff are aware that anything that is posted could influence their future professional reputation. The majority of organisations and work establishments now check digital footprint before considering applications for positions or places on courses.

Parental mental health - The term 'mental ill health' is used to cover a wide range of conditions, from eating disorders, mild depression and anxiety to psychotic illnesses such as Schizophrenia or Bipolar Disorder. Parental mental illness does not necessarily have an adverse impact on a child's developmental needs, but it is essential to always assess its implications for each child in the family. It is essential that the diagnosis of a parent/carer's mental health is not seen as defining the level of risk. Similarly, the absence of a diagnosis does not equate to there being little or no risk.

For children the impact of parental mental health can include:

- The parent/carer's needs or illnesses taking precedence over the child's needs
- Child's physical and emotional needs neglected
- A child acting as a young carer for a parent or a sibling
- Child having restricted social and recreational activities
- Child finds it difficult to concentrate - impacting on educational achievement
- A child missing school/college regularly as (s)he is being kept home as a companion for a parent/carer
- A child adopts paranoid or suspicious behaviour as they believe their parent's delusions.
- Witnessing self-harming behaviour and suicide attempts (including attempts that involve the child)
- Obsessional compulsive behaviours involving the child

Parental Substance Misuse - Substance misuse applies to the misuse of alcohol as well as 'problem drug use', defined by the Advisory Council on the Misuse of Drugs as drug use which has: 'serious negative consequences of a physical, psychological, social and interpersonal, financial or legal nature for users and those around them'. Parental substance misuse of drugs or alcohol becomes relevant to child protection when substance misuse and personal circumstances indicate that parenting capacity is likely to be seriously impaired or that undue caring responsibilities are likely to be falling on a child in the family.

For children the impact of parental substance misuse can include:

- Inadequate food, heat and clothing for children (family finances used to fund adult's dependency)
- Lack of engagement or interest from parents in their development, education or wellbeing
- Behavioural difficulties- inappropriate display of sexual and/or aggressive behaviour
- Bullying
- Isolation – finding it hard to socialise, make friends or invite them home
- Tiredness or lack of concentration
- Child talking of or bringing into college, drugs or related paraphernalia

- Injuries/accidents (due to inadequate adult supervision)
- Taking on a caring role
- Continued poor academic performance including difficulties completing homework on time
- Poor attendance or late arrival.

Physical Abuse - may involve hitting, shaking, throwing, poisoning, burning or scalding, drowning, suffocating, or otherwise causing physical harm to a child. Physical harm may also be caused when a parent or carer fabricates the symptoms of, or deliberately induces, illness in a child.

Perplexing Presentations (PP) has been introduced to describe those situations where there are indicators of possible FII which have not caused or brought on any actual significant harm. It is important to highlight any potential discrepancies between reports, presentations of the child and independent observations of the child. What is key to note are implausible descriptions and/or unexplained findings and/or parental behaviour.

Prevent, Radicalisation and Extremism

Radicalisation refers to the process by which a person comes to support terrorism and extremist ideologies associated with terrorist groups.

Extremism is the vocal or active opposition to our fundamental values, including democracy, the rule of law, individual liberty and the mutual respect and tolerance of different faiths and beliefs. This also includes calling for the death of members of the armed forces.

There is no single way of identifying whether a child is likely to be susceptible to an extremist ideology. Background factors combined with specific influences such as family and friends may contribute to a child's susceptibility. Similarly, radicalisation can occur through many different methods, such as social media or the internet, and in different settings.

See: <http://www.homeoffice.gov.uk/publications/counter-terrorism/prevent/prevent-strategy> and <http://www.homeoffice.gov.uk/publications/counter-terrorism/counter-terrorism-strategy>

Private Fostering - Private fostering is an arrangement by a child's parents for their child (under 16 or 18 if disabled) to be cared for by another adult who is not closely related and is not a legal guardian with parental responsibility, for 28 days or more. It is not private fostering if the carer is a close relative to the child such as grandparent, brother, sister, uncle or aunt. The Law requires that the carers and parents must notify the Children's Services Department of any private fostering arrangement.

Self-harm - is when someone deliberately hurts or injures themselves. This can take a number of forms including:

- cutting or burning - the most common forms of self-harm
- taking overdoses of tablets or medicines
- punching themselves

- throwing their bodies against something
- pulling out their hair or eyelashes
- scratching, picking or tearing at their skin causing sores and scarring
- inhaling or sniffing harmful substances
- swallowing things that are not edible
- inserting objects into their bodies

Some young people self-harm on a regular basis while others do it just once or a few times. For some people it is part of coping with a specific problem and they stop once the problem is resolved. Other people self-harm for years whenever certain kinds of pressures or feelings arise.

A few people who self-harm may go on to commit suicide - generally this is not what they intend to do. In fact, self-harm can be seen as the opposite of suicide as it is often a way of coping with life rather than of giving up on it. Self-harm comes under the more general category of “physical abuse”. If others know about the activity and do nothing, the issue of “neglect” may also be relevant.

Serious Violence - Serious violence is becoming a factor for those who are involved in criminal exploitation. It can also be an indication of gang involvement and criminal activity. Staff should be aware of the range of risk factors which increase the likelihood of involvement in serious violence, such as being male, having been frequently absent or permanently excluded from school, having experienced child maltreatment and having been involved in offending, such as theft or robbery. Advice for staff can be found in the Home Office’s Preventing youth violence and gang involvement.

Sexting - 'Sexting' refers to the sharing of naked or ‘nude’ pictures or video through mobile phones and/or the internet. It also includes underwear shots, sexual poses and explicit text messaging. It is sometimes referred to as youth produced sexual imagery. While sexting often takes place in a consensual relationship between two young people, the use of sexted images in revenge following a relationship breakdown is becoming more commonplace. Sexting can also be used as a form of sexual exploitation and take place between strangers.

Sexual Abuse - involves forcing or enticing a child or young person to take part in sexual activities, not necessarily involving a high level of violence, whether or not the child is aware of what is happening. The activities may involve physical contact, including assault by penetration (for example, rape or oral sex) or non-penetrative acts such as masturbation, kissing, rubbing and touching outside of clothing. They may also include non-contact activities, such as involving children in looking at, or in the production of, sexual images, watching sexual activities, encouraging children to behave in sexually inappropriate ways, or grooming a child in preparation for abuse (including via the internet). Sexual abuse is not solely perpetrated by adult males. Women can also commit acts of sexual abuse, as can other children.

Sexual Violence and Sexual Harassment Between Children - Sexual violence and sexual harassment can occur between two children of any age and sex from primary to secondary stage and into colleges.

It can also occur through a group of children sexually assaulting or sexually harassing a single child or group of children.

Whilst any report of sexual violence or sexual harassment should be taken seriously, it is more likely that girls will be the victims of sexual violence and sexual harassment and more likely it will be perpetrated by boys. This pattern of prevalence will not, however, be an obstacle to ALL concerns being treated seriously.

We are clear that sexual violence and sexual harassment is not acceptable, will never be tolerated and is not an inevitable part of growing up. It cannot be described as 'banter', 'having a laugh' or 'boys being boys'.

We will also take seriously any sharing of sexual images (photos, pictures or drawings) and videos; sexual jokes, comments or taunting either in person or on social media; or online sexual harassment. Support will be provided to victims of sexual violence and sexual harassment and we will ensure that they are kept safe.

Technologies & Online Safety - Technological hardware and software are developing continuously with an increase in functionality of devices that people use. The majority of students use online tools to communicate with others locally, nationally and internationally. Access to the Internet and other tools that technology provides is an invaluable way of finding, sharing and communicating information. While technology itself is not harmful, it can be used by others to make students vulnerable and to abuse them. Students may underestimate how often they come across potentially harmful and inappropriate material on the internet and may be unsure about how to respond. The breadth of issues classified within online safety is considerable, but can be categorised into four areas of risk:

- content: being exposed to, accessing or generating, illegal, inappropriate or harmful content, for example: pornography, fake news, racism, misogyny, self-harm, suicide, anti-Semitism, radicalisation and extremism.
- contact: being subjected to harmful online interaction with other users; for example: peer to peer pressure, commercial advertising and adults posing as children or young adults with the intention to groom or exploit them for sexual, criminal, financial or other purposes.
- conduct: personal online behaviour that increases the likelihood of, or causes, harm; for example, making, sending and receiving explicit images (e.g consensual and non-consensual sharing of nudes and semi-nudes and/or pornography, sharing other explicit images and online bullying; and
- commerce - risks such as online gambling, inappropriate advertising, phishing and or financial scams.

QMC will seek to provide information and awareness to both students and their parents through:

- Acceptable use agreements (IT code of conduct)
- Curriculum and Tutorial activities involving raising awareness around staying safe online
- Information included in letters, newsletters, on the website and on the VLE

- High profile events / campaigns e.g. Safer Internet Day
- Our Social media policy

For further information on Cyberbullying please refer to the Bullying policy.

Teenage Relationship Abuse - Relationship abuse can take place at any age and describes unacceptable behaviour between two people who are in a relationship.

Research has shown that teenagers do not always understand what may constitute abusive and controlling behaviours, e.g. checking someone's 'phone, telling them what to wear, who they can/can't see or speak to or coercing them to engage in activities they are not comfortable with. The government campaign "disrespect nobody" provides other examples of abusive behaviour within a relationship.

This lack of understanding can lead to these abusive behaviours feeling 'normal' and therefore left unchallenged, as they are not recognised as being abusive.

Human Trafficking - is defined by the UNHCR in respect of children as a process that is a combination of:

- Movement (including within the UK)
- Control, through harm/threat of harm or fraud
- For the purpose of exploitation

Any child transported for exploitative reasons is considered to be a trafficking victim. Modern slavery encompasses human trafficking and slavery, servitude and forced or compulsory labour. Exploitation can take many forms, including: sexual exploitation, forced labour, slavery, servitude, forced criminality and the removal of organs. When considering modern slavery, there is a perception that this is taking place overseas. The Government estimates that tens of thousands of slaves are in the UK today. Young people being forced to work in restaurants, nail bars, car washes and harvesting fruit, vegetables or other foods have all been slaves 'hiding in plain sight' within the U.K and rescued from slavery. Other forms of slavery such as sex slaves or household slaves are more hidden but have also been rescued within the UK.

The Trigger Trio - The term 'Trigger Trio' has replaced the previous phrase 'Toxic Trio' which was used to describe the issues of domestic violence, mental ill-health and substance misuse which have been identified as common features of families where harm to women and children has occurred (see separate entries). In an analysis of Serious Cases Reviews undertaken by Ofsted in 2011, they found that in nearly 75% of these cases two or more of the issues were present. These factors will have a contextual impact on the safeguarding of children and young people.

Upskirting - is defined as someone taking a picture under another person's clothing without their knowledge, with the intention of viewing their genitals or buttocks, with or without underwear. The intent of upskirting is to gain sexual gratification or to cause the victim humiliation, distress or alarm. If this is between students, we will follow the peer-on-peer abuse procedure. There are behaviours that would be considered as sexual harassment which may be pre-cursors to upskirting. The use of reflective surfaces or mirrors to view underwear or genitals will not be tolerated and we will respond to these with appropriate disciplinary action and education.

In 2019 the Voyeurism Offences Act came into force and made the practice of upskirting illegal.

Young Carers - As many as 1 in 12 children and young people provide care for another person. This could be a parent, a relative or a sibling and for different reasons such as disability, chronic illness, mental health needs, or adults who are misusing drugs or alcohol. Students who provide care for another are Young Carers. These young people can miss out on opportunities, and the requirement to provide care can impact on attendance or punctuality, limit time for homework, leisure activities and social time with friends.

Indicators of abuse

In general, ANY of the indicators below should trigger concern, and a conversation with the student and/or a referral to a DSL, who will then decide how to take it further. Please make a note of your conversation with the student as per procedures.

On their own these indicators need not indicate abuse of any of the kinds listed below. However, it is important to be satisfied that where these behaviours occur, they are not linked to abuse. It is also important to avoid making assumptions about an individual student's circumstances or act on the basis of stereotyping. For example, an extended holiday may be taken for entirely legitimate reasons and may not necessarily represent a pretext for, for example, forced marriage. Each student should be seen in the context of their family and wider community and a proper assessment carried out by appropriate persons.

These indicators are not in order of importance.

As regards the student:

- an extended or repeated pattern of absence; consider how many periods the student is missing, if they occur in any pattern, and how many days
- regularly coming in late, or reports of going home late (or not at all)
- evidence of running away from home
- a drop in performance
- signs of low motivation, mood swings or changes in emotional wellbeing
- changes in behaviour that affect emotional wellbeing
- disengaging from previous positive peer groups, friendships
- problems sleeping
- problems eating or changes in eating habits
- bed wetting
- soiling clothes
- excessive risk taking
- obsessive behaviour
- experiencing nightmares
- evidence of self-harm, treatment for depression, attempted suicide or thoughts of suicide being voiced, social isolation, eating disorders or substance abuse
- having injuries including bruising that are unexplained and unwilling to be looked at
- appearing with unexplained gifts or new possessions
- having unexplained amounts of money
- having multiple mobile phones
- associating with other young people known to be involved in exploitation
- having older boyfriends or girlfriends
- suffering from sexually transmitted infections or becomes pregnant

- drug and alcohol misuse
- displaying inappropriate sexualised behaviour
- increased social media and phone/text use, almost always secretly
- increase in aggression, violence and fighting
- carrying weapons – knives, baseball bats, hammers, acid
- travel receipts that are unexplained
- has contracted a sexually transmitted infection or has an unwanted pregnancy
- has a history with missing educational links and unexplained house moves
- is required to earn a minimum amount of money every day
- works in various locations
- is known to beg for money
- is being cared for by adult/s who are not their parents and the quality of the relationship between the child and their adult carers is not good
- is one among a number of unrelated children found at one address
- has not been registered with or attended a GP practice
- has been seen in places known to be used for sexual exploitation or drug use
- clothing unusual for a child i.e. inappropriate for age, or borrowing clothing from older people
- having keys to premises other than those known about
- entering or leaving vehicles driven by unknown adults
- appears excessively afraid of being deported
- being found in areas where the young person has no known links
- inappropriate use of the internet and forming online relationships, particularly with adults
- Does not have friends in real life, solely online

As regards the parent(s) or guardian(s):

- lack of parental engagement with college
- excessive parental restriction and control of movements
- parental control of income
- students being allowed only limited career choices

As regards the wider family:

- a history of siblings leaving education to marry early
- evidence of family disputes/conflict, domestic violence/abuse or running away from home.

Other factors:

- comments by other students which concern you
- older males in particular seen to be hanging around the site, especially in cars

As regards being absent from lessons:

- Are there patterns in the lessons that are being missed?
- Is this more than avoidance of a subject or a teacher?
- Does the student remain on site or are they absent from the site?
- Is the student being exploited during this time?
- Are they late because of a caring responsibility?
- Have they been directly or indirectly affected by substance misuse?
- Are other students routinely missing the same lessons and does this raise other risks or concerns such as SVSH between students, exploitation, gang behaviour or substance misuse?
- Is the lesson being missed one that would cause bruising or injuries to become visible?

Single absent days:

- Is there a pattern in the day missed?
- Is it before or after the weekend suggesting the student is away from the area?
- Are there specific lessons or members of staff on these days?
- Is the parent informing college of the absence on the day?
- Are missing days reported back to parents to confirm their awareness?
- Is the student being sexually exploited during this day?
- Is the student avoiding abusive behaviour from peers or staff on this day?
- Do the parents appear to be aware and are they condoning the behaviour?
- Are the student's peers making comments or suggestions as to where the student is?
- Can the parent be contacted and made aware?

Continuous missing days:

- Has College been able to make contact with the parent(s)?
- Is medical evidence being provided?
- Are siblings attending school/college (either our or local schools)?
- Do we have any concerns about radicalisation, FGM, forced marriage, honour- based violence, sexual exploitation?
- Do we have any concerns about physical or sexual abuse?
- Does the parent have any known medical needs? Is the child safe?

Specific indicators of Four Main types of Abuse

Physical Abuse

The nature of physical abuse

Most children collect cuts and bruises quite routinely as part of the rough and tumble of daily life. Clearly, it is not necessary to be concerned about most of these minor injuries. But accidental injuries normally occur on the bony prominences – e.g., shins. Injuries on the soft areas of the body are more likely to be inflicted intentionally and should therefore make us more alert to other concerning factors that may be present.

Indicators of physical abuse/factors that should increase concern

- Multiple bruising or bruises and scratches (especially on the head and face)
- Clusters of bruises – e.g., fingertip bruising (caused by being grasped)
- Bruises around the neck and behind the ears – the most common abusive injuries are to the head
- Bruises on the back, chest, buttocks, or on the inside of the thighs
- Marks indicating injury by an instrument – e.g., linear bruising (stick), parallel bruising (belt), marks of a buckle
- Bite marks
- Deliberate burning may also be indicated by the pattern of an instrument or object – e.g., electric fire, cooker, cigarette
- Scalds with upward splash marks or tide marks
- Untreated injuries
- Recurrent injuries or burns
- Bald patches.

It is perfectly acceptable to ask about a noticeable injury. The response to such an enquiry is generally light-hearted and detailed. So, most of all, concern should be increased when:

- the explanation given does not match the injury
- the explanation uses words or phrases that do not match the vocabulary of the child
- no explanation is forthcoming
- the child (or the parent/carer) is secretive or evasive
- the injury is accompanied by allegations of abuse or assault

You should be concerned if the child or young person:

- is reluctant to have parents/carers contacted
- runs away or shows fear of going home
- is aggressive towards themselves or others
- flinches when approached or touched
- wears long sleeves during hot weather
- is unnaturally compliant in the presence of parents/carers.
- has a fear of medical help or attention

- admits to a punishment that appears excessive

Emotional Abuse

The nature of emotional abuse

Emotional abuse is difficult to define, identify, recognise and/or prove. Emotional abuse is chronic and cumulative and has a long-term impact. Most harm is produced in low warmth, high criticism homes, not from single incidents. All kinds of abuse and neglect have emotional effects although emotional abuse can occur by itself. Children can be harmed by witnessing someone harming another person – as in domestic violence.

It is sometimes possible to spot emotionally abusive behaviour from parents and carers to their children, by the way that the adults are speaking to, or behaving towards children. An appropriate challenge or intervention could affect positive change and prevent more intensive work being carried out later on.

Indicators of emotional abuse:

Developmental issues

- Delays in physical, mental and emotional development
- Poor academic performance
- Speech disorders, particularly sudden disorders or changes

Behaviour

- Acceptance of punishment which appears excessive
- Over-reaction to mistakes
- Continual self-deprecation (I'm stupid, ugly, worthless etc.)
- Neurotic behaviour (such as rocking, hair-twisting, thumb-sucking)
- Self-mutilation
- Suicide attempts
- Drug/solvent abuse
- Running away
- Compulsive stealing, scavenging
- Acting out
- Poor trust in significant adults
- Regressive behaviour
- Eating disorders
- Destructive tendencies
- Neurotic behaviour
- Arriving early, leaving late

Social issues

- Withdrawal from physical contact

- Withdrawal from social interaction
- Over-compliant behaviour
- Insecure, clinging behaviour
- Poor social relationships

Emotional responses

- Extreme fear of new situations
- Inappropriate emotional responses to painful situations (“I deserve this”)

Sexual Abuse

The nature of sexual abuse

Sexual abuse is often perpetrated by people who are known and trusted by the child – e.g., relatives, family friends, neighbours, people working with the child in college, faith settings, clubs or activities. Children can also be subject to child sexual exploitation.

Characteristics of child sexual abuse:

- It is often planned and systematic – people do not sexually abuse children by accident, though sexual abuse can be opportunistic
- Grooming the child – people who abuse children take care to choose a vulnerable child and often spend time making them dependent
- Grooming the child’s environment – abusers try to ensure that potential adult protectors (parents and other carers especially) are not suspicious of their motives.

Most people who sexually abuse children are men, but some women sexually abuse too.

Indicators of sexual abuse

Physical observations

- Damage or soreness to genitalia, anus or mouth and other medical problems such as chronic itching, unexplained recurrent urinary tract infections and discharges or abdominal pain
- Sexually transmitted diseases
- Unexpected pregnancy

Behavioural observations

- Sexual knowledge inappropriate for age
- Sexualised behaviour or affection inappropriate for age
- Sexually provocative behaviour/promiscuity
- Hinting at sexual activity

- Inexplicable decline in academic performance
- Depression or other sudden apparent changes in personality – such as becoming insecure or clinging
- Lack of concentration, restlessness, aimlessness
- Socially isolated or withdrawn
- Overly-compliant behaviour
- Acting out, aggressive behaviour
- Poor trust or fear concerning significant adults
- Regressive behaviour, nightmares
- Onset of insecure, clinging behaviour
- Arriving early, leaving late, running away from home
- Suicide attempts, self-mutilation, self-disgust
- Suddenly drawing sexually explicit pictures
- Eating disorders or sudden loss of appetite or compulsive eating
- Trying to be 'ultra-good' or perfect; overreacting to criticism

Neglect

The nature of neglect

Neglect is a lack of parental care but poverty and lack of information or adequate services can be contributory factors. Far more children are registered to the category of neglect on child protection plans than to the other categories. As with abuse, the number of children experiencing neglect is likely to be much higher than the numbers on the plans.

Neglect can include parents or carers failing to:

- provide adequate food, clothing and shelter
- protect a child from physical and emotional harm or danger
- ensure adequate supervision or stimulation
- ensure access to appropriate medical care or treatment

NSPCC research has highlighted the following examples of the neglect of children:

- frequently going hungry
- frequently having to go to college in dirty clothes
- regularly having to look after themselves because of parents being away or having problems such as drug or alcohol misuse
- being abandoned or deserted
- living at home in dangerous physical conditions
- not being taken to the doctor when ill or not receiving dental care

Neglect is a difficult form of abuse to recognise and is often seen as less serious than other categories. It is, however, very damaging: children who are neglected often develop more slowly than others and may find it hard to make friends and fit in with their peer group.

Neglect is often noticed at a stage when it does not pose a risk to the child. The duty to safeguard and promote the welfare of children would suggest that an appropriate intervention or conversation at this early stage can address the issue and prevent a child continuing to suffer until it reaches a point when they are at risk of harm or in significant need. (What to do if you are worried a child is being abused, DfE 2015)

Neglect is often linked to other forms of abuse, so any concerns college staff have should at least be discussed with the DSL.

Physical indicators of neglect

- Constant hunger and stealing food
- Poor personal hygiene - unkempt, dirty or smelly
- Underweight
- Dress unsuitable for weather
- Poor state of clothing
- Illness or injury untreated

Behavioural indicators of neglect

- Constant tiredness
- Frequent absence or lateness
- Missing medical appointments
- Isolated among peers
- Stealing or scavenging, especially food
- Destructive tendencies

All staff

All staff have a key role to play in identifying concerns early and in providing help for students. To achieve this, they will:

- Establish and maintain an environment where students feel secure, are encouraged to talk and are listened to
- Ensure students know that there are adults in the College whom they can approach if they are worried about any problems
- Plan opportunities within the curriculum for students to develop the skills they need to assess and manage risk appropriately and keep themselves safe
- Attend training in order to be aware of and alert to the signs of abuse
- Maintain an attitude of “it could happen here” with regards to safeguarding
- Be aware that mental health problems can, in some cases, be an indicator that a child has suffered or is at risk of suffering abuse, neglect or exploitation
- Recognise that abuse, neglect, or other adverse childhood experiences, can have an impact on the mental health, behaviour and education of children
- Record their concerns if they are worried that a student is being abused and report these to the relevant person as soon as practical that day
- If the disclosure is an allegation against a member of staff, they will follow the allegations’ procedures (see separate policy)
- Follow the procedures set out above and take account of the KCSiE guidance issued by the DfE
- Support relevant students in line with their child protection plan
- Treat information with confidentiality but never promising to “keep a secret”
- In the context of early help, staff will notify colleagues and/or parents of any concerns about their students, and provide them with, or signpost them to, opportunities to change the situation
- Ensure they know who the Designated Safeguarding Lead (DSL) and DDSLs are and know how to contact them
- Have an awareness of the Child Protection Policy; the Code of Conduct; peer-on-peer abuse procedures; safeguarding response for children who go missing from education; and the role of the DSL/DDSLs
- Include Prevent referrals in their referrals to DSLs

All staff should be aware of the College's Child Protection Memo published in the Staff Handbook, and the Procedure and Guidance for Identifying and Reporting Cases, or Suspected Cases of Abuse. All staff sign to confirm they have read KCSiE, and do Smartlog Child Protection training.

All students should be aware of how to report any concerns they have, to any member of staff. They are told about this in Induction, in tutorial 1-1s, and via the Student Handbook. They have access to this policy online and on the intranet and on the website.

The Governing Body and Trust Board are accountable for ensuring the College has effective child protection, PREVENT and safeguarding policies and procedures in place and for monitoring the College's compliance with them. They should ensure that an appropriate senior member of staff is designated to take lead responsibility for dealing with child protection/radicalisation issues, providing advice and support to other staff, liaising with the local authority and working with other agencies (see Section 175 of the Education Act 2002), and is given time to fulfil this role properly. They need to ensure that the College:

- keeps students safe and challenges poor and unsafe practice
- has effective Safeguarding Policies & Procedures including a Child Protection Policy, a Prevent Policy and a Staff Behaviour Policy and undertakes effective partnership working between all those involved with providing safeguarding services for students
- HSCP is informed annually about the discharge of duties via the safeguarding audit
- Recruitment, selection and induction follows safer recruitment practice including all appropriate checks
- Allegations against staff are dealt with by the Principal. Allegations against the Principal are dealt with by the Chair of Governors/Trustees and/or LADO
- A member of the senior staff team is allocated the role of Designated Safeguarding Lead (DSL) and has this recorded in their job description. Deputies are available in their absence
- Staff have been trained appropriately and this is updated in line with guidance
- Any safeguarding deficiencies or weaknesses are remedied without delay
- They have identified a nominated Governor for Safeguarding

However, neither the Governing body, nor individual Governors/Trustees, have a role in dealing with individual cases or a right to know details of cases (except when exercising their disciplinary functions in respect of allegations against a member of staff).

The designated NHEA Trustee with responsibility for child protection issues is Jean Thorpe and the designated QMC Local Governor with responsibility for child protection issues is Sarah Pritchard. Sarah Pritchard liaises with the Principal and Designated Safeguarding Lead over matters regarding child protection on a regular basis and as detailed above.
